About the Music Audition Process

We ask that you prepare two works of contrasting style to perform for us. You will also be asked to sight sing and/or sight read a musical selection. This will be followed by an informal and brief interview in which you will have the opportunity to ask questions of the music faculty concerning studying music at Wesleyan. The entire process should take about 20 minutes.

Piano Auditions:
Two pieces in contrasting styles from two of the following historical periods: Baroque, Classical, Romantic or Modern (20th and 21st Century). Music should be performed from memory. If you have questions please contact piano professor, Dr. Chenny Gan (cgan@wesleyancollege.edu or 478-757-5147).

Organ Auditions:
Students should prepare two works of contrasting styles to perform and a hymn from any standard hymnal; music may be used for this audition. Please arrange a practice time on the organ before the audition by contacting the organ professor, Dr. Michael McGhee (mmcghee@wesleyancollege.edu or 478-757-2433).

Voice Auditions:
The student should prepare two selections from the solo vocal repertoire in contrasting styles. It is recommended that, when possible, one of the selections should be a song in a foreign language (Italian, French, or German) plus a second selection in a contrasting style. One selection from musical theatre may be used. A voice part from a choral composition is not permissible. Please bring a copy of your selections to the audition; an accompanist will be provided. Taped accompaniments are not appropriate. Music should be performed from memory. If you have questions please contact Professor Nadine Cheek (ncheek@wesleyancollege.edu or 478-757-5127).

Instrumental Auditions:
The student should prepare two solo selections to successfully demonstrate your musical abilities and talents. Please bring a copy of the accompaniment unless the composition is specifically written for the instrument alone; an accompanist will be provided if needed. If you have questions please contact Professor Nadine Cheek (ncheek@wesleyancollege.edu or 478-757-5127).
