Tuition for the M.Ed. is a total amount for the entire program and is not computed by cost per semester hour. The tuition may be made in two payments. The first payment is due the day before orientation classes begin; the second payment due date will be announced at the first orientation session of each cohort. No adjustment of charges will be made after the day preceding the first day of orientation classes. The M.Ed program does not provide tuition reimbursement.

In the event that an M.Ed student repeats a course, the student will be charged additional tuition based on a prorated charge of the tuition rate of the Cohort with which the course is taken. This additional tuition must be paid prior to participation in the study abroad (if it occurs prior to) and graduation.
